Sagarians: Making Room for Creative Adventures

Sundays have become a storehouse of fun for the Sagarians after the introduction of the Handicraft and Cookery Classes. While the country is rocking in its heels after the introduction of the New Education Policy that advocates skill based education, the Sagarians are making the best use of the opportunity and spending their Sunday mornings and evenings, crafting and cooking up a storm. With Ms. Amarjyot Kaur at the helm, there's nothing stopping them!

Craft Classes

'Making Wind Chimes'

"Happiness is a day called Sunday,

And, you may call it a Funday"

“A spoonful of Fun,
And a pinch of Sugar,
Mix it well to Learn
Great Skills.”

Sagarians learning
a new recipe every week, with their family and friends.

“Cooking is LOVE made VISIBLE.”

“The fruits of labour are SWEET.”

Miscellaneous

Our Sand Castle

“I and My friend made this Sandcastle,

We sculptured the sand and created a palace,

We flagged,

A Flowery Flag on its Pinnacle,

I and My friend made this Sandcastle.”

“Feathery, Fluffy
White Cotton Balls,
transforming its shape,

Every now and then.

Look left it is a cloudy
ghost,

Which gives us scare!

Wherein,

Look right it is a Cloudy Bear.”

“Let’s meet,
Little Miss Tanishi,
Talk of the Town,
Yesterday she was Krishna,
Holding a flute,
Today she is Radha,
Looking so cute,
Embellishing a Lehnga,
Adorning the Jewels,
Tweaking her Crown, Grinning and Hopping
Up and Down.”

“We may pass
Violets,
Looking for Roses,
We may pass
Contentment, Looking for Victory.”
- Bernard Williams
